

Ana de Costa

Ana's designs have been influenced by a mystical set of Tarot cards, introduced to her by a spiritual lady and an important inspiration in Ana's life. This special set of cards, called the Faerie Oracle, symbolises an expression of an artistic freeness of mind, and inner sense of calm – a story that is explored through Ana's designs. Two of the main characters from this story are the muses for one of Ana's collections, which includes two cocktail rings; the intricate design of faerie wings is seen across all of the pieces. Carefully sculpted white gold forms the setting for the intoxicating tanzanite stones, and each piece is delicately hand crafted to feel luxurious and decadent.

Information: info@anadecosta.com or www.anadecosta.com

A touch of glamour

Bold statement pieces can add instant glitz to a plain outfit, and with a vast range of designs and price points available there is a cocktail ring to suit all tastes and budgets, as demonstrated by the following selection...

Andrew Geoghegan

The Satellite joins an impressive collection of inspired engagement and cocktail rings by award-winning designer Andrew Geoghegan. The soft curves of precious metal and stone allow the wearer's sense of touch to be stimulated, as well as providing a visual feast. The ring is available in diamonds, 18 carat gold and platinum, with many stones including fire opal (pictured), peridot, citrine, rutilated/tourmilated quartz, ruby and sapphire.

Information: 0113 307 0100 or www.andrewgeoghegan.com

Roberto Coin

Roberto Coin was founded in 1977 and operates with a central aim of bringing happiness to the jewellery wearer through good product design. Pictured above is a selection of its latest cocktail ring offerings, including the Mauresque peach gold ring with prasiolite.

Information: sales@robertocoin.com or www.robertocoin.com